GHS... Day and Night

CHS . . . Students by Day

January snow blankets buildings and grounds as crisp wind moves flag.

Typical day in CHS office finds counter busy with people.

CHS library gives Terry Eberts and Jan McNitt a chance to study together.

Cars of students rest in west side lot as occupants trail off to classes.

Waterworks ice rink becomes meeting place for young and old alike on Sunday afternoon.

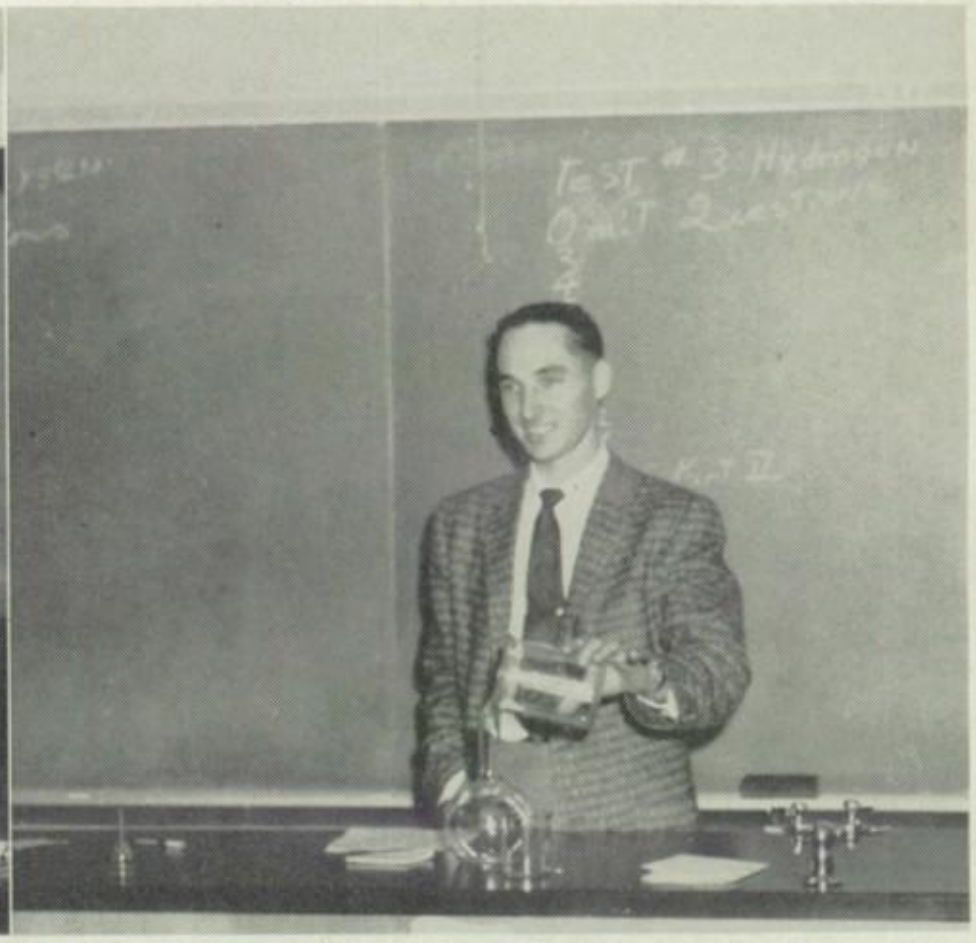
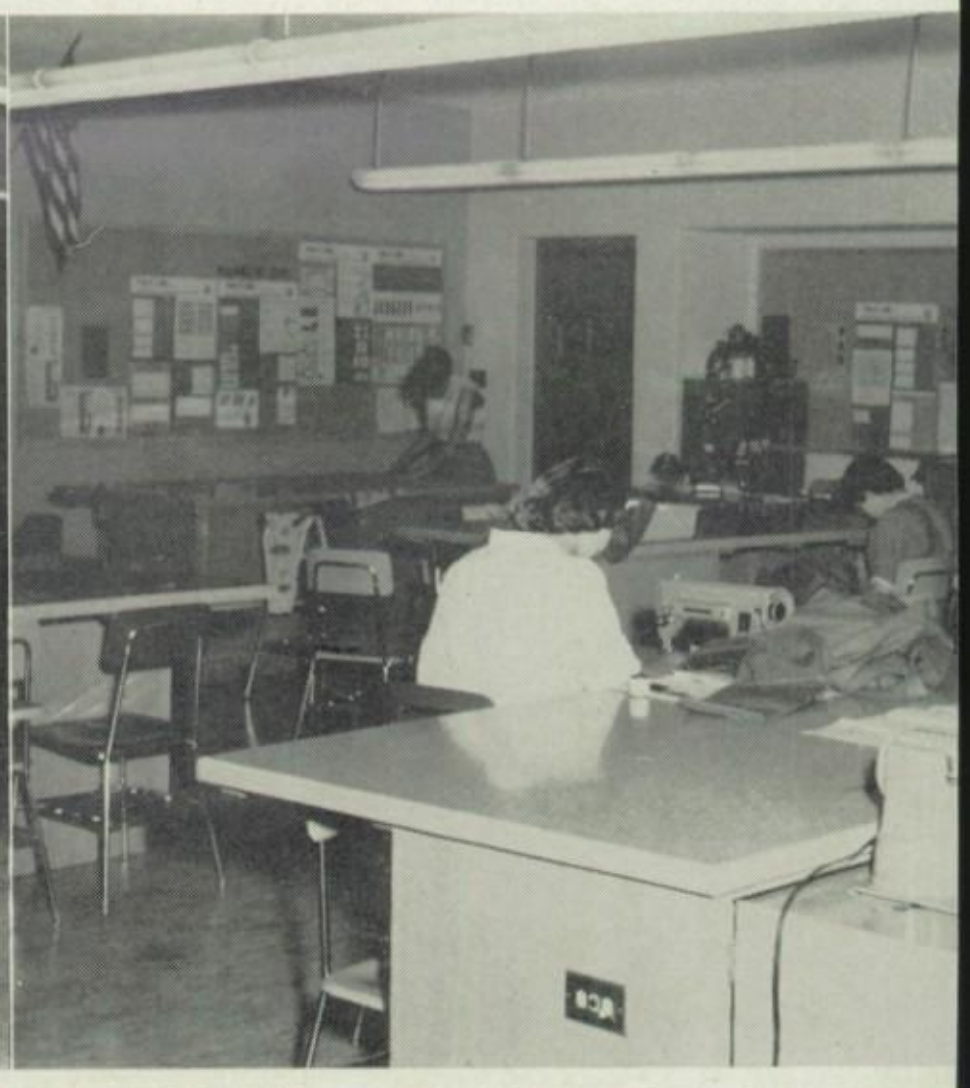
Mrs. Aitchison explains an assignment to a biology class.



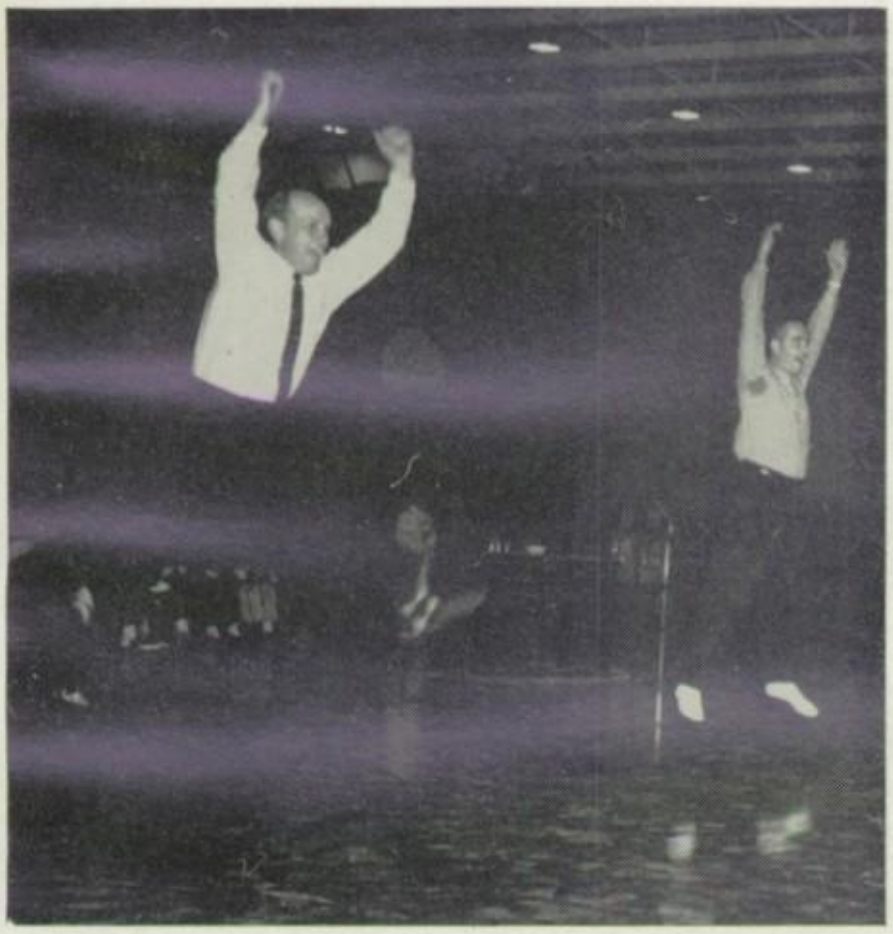
Mr. Bell shows chemical reaction with an experiment in chemistry.

Boys are schooled in carpentry and mechanics under the direction of Mr. Timm.



Girls learn how to cook and sew in the modern Home Ec. room.

Happenings Throughout the Day . . .



Coaches display cheerleading ability at football pep session.

When Coldwater High School students come to school, most of their time is devoted to attending classes chosen from 91 course offerings. Pep assemblies and professional programs also share the daytime spotlight.

Funny man, Monk Watson, took top honors in the entertainment derby early in the year with his jokes, magic and pantomiming.

Most active classrooms were the industrial arts department, the science courses and the homemaking units, where constant activity is part of the day's work.

500 miler Jimmy Daywalt explains to students how to drive safely.

Comedian Monk Watson begins a hat for Judy Short, and the result is this.

Mr. Dearbaugh and Mr. Smuk laugh while Mr. Morrison disinterestedly prepares to eat at teachers' meeting.

Sophomores swarm over each other for picture during a Saturday paper drive.

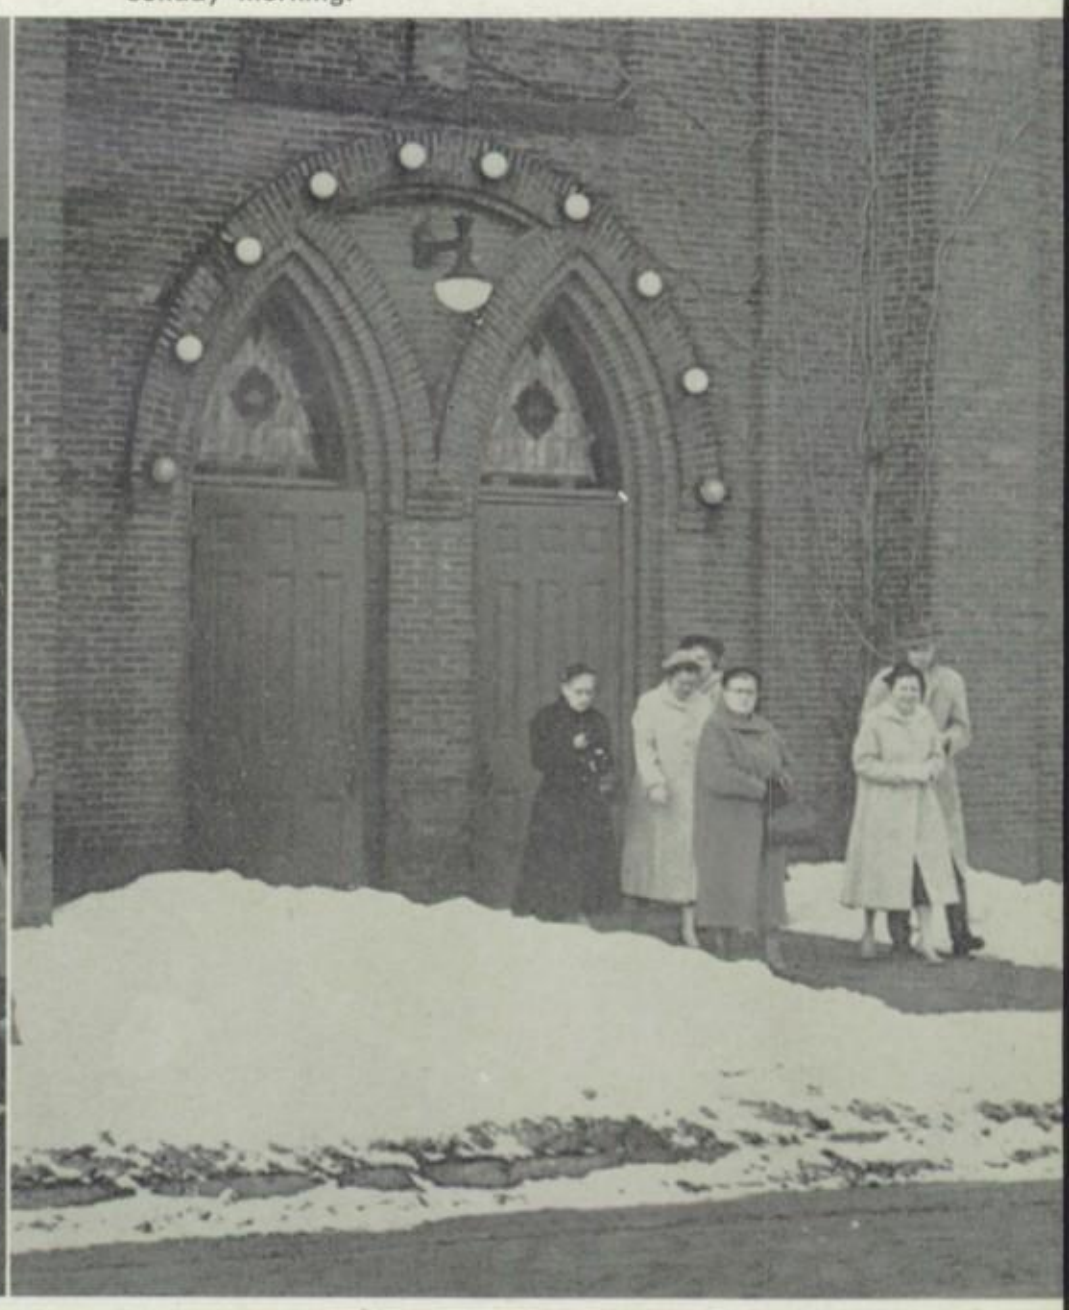
and Memorable Things Go on . . .

Carol Long and Deloras Shiery check student records.

Deanna Blanchard (on ground), Cherie Boyd (kneeling), and Karen Faller work on Future Teachers' parade float.

Faculty wives and husbands have party in library and play Bunco.

People leave First Baptist church after services on Sunday morning.



CHS . . . Where Dancing Leads

Students' Social Affairs

Tom Hosek, Janice Berry, Dave Chenoweth, Cherie Graham, Ann Dally, and Jim Nash dance to records in the cafeteria during Freshman-Sophomore Reception.

Dancing has become more and more popular at Coldwater High School until now almost everyone enjoys this evening pastime.

Nearly every Friday night this year found many CHS students dancing in the gym to records furnished by the clubs sponsoring the event.

The Freshman-Sophomore Reception, Valentine Formal, Christmas Dance and Junior-Senior Prom were annual events of the year featuring dancing.

Every Thursday for six weeks several students participated in a dancing class taught by Mr. and Mrs. Packer from Litchfield. During these hour-long sessions, rock and roll, the fox-trot, the polka and waltz were demonstrated and practiced.

During half-time at the Coldwater-Lakeview game on October 4, gleaming convertibles paraded around Cardinal Field.

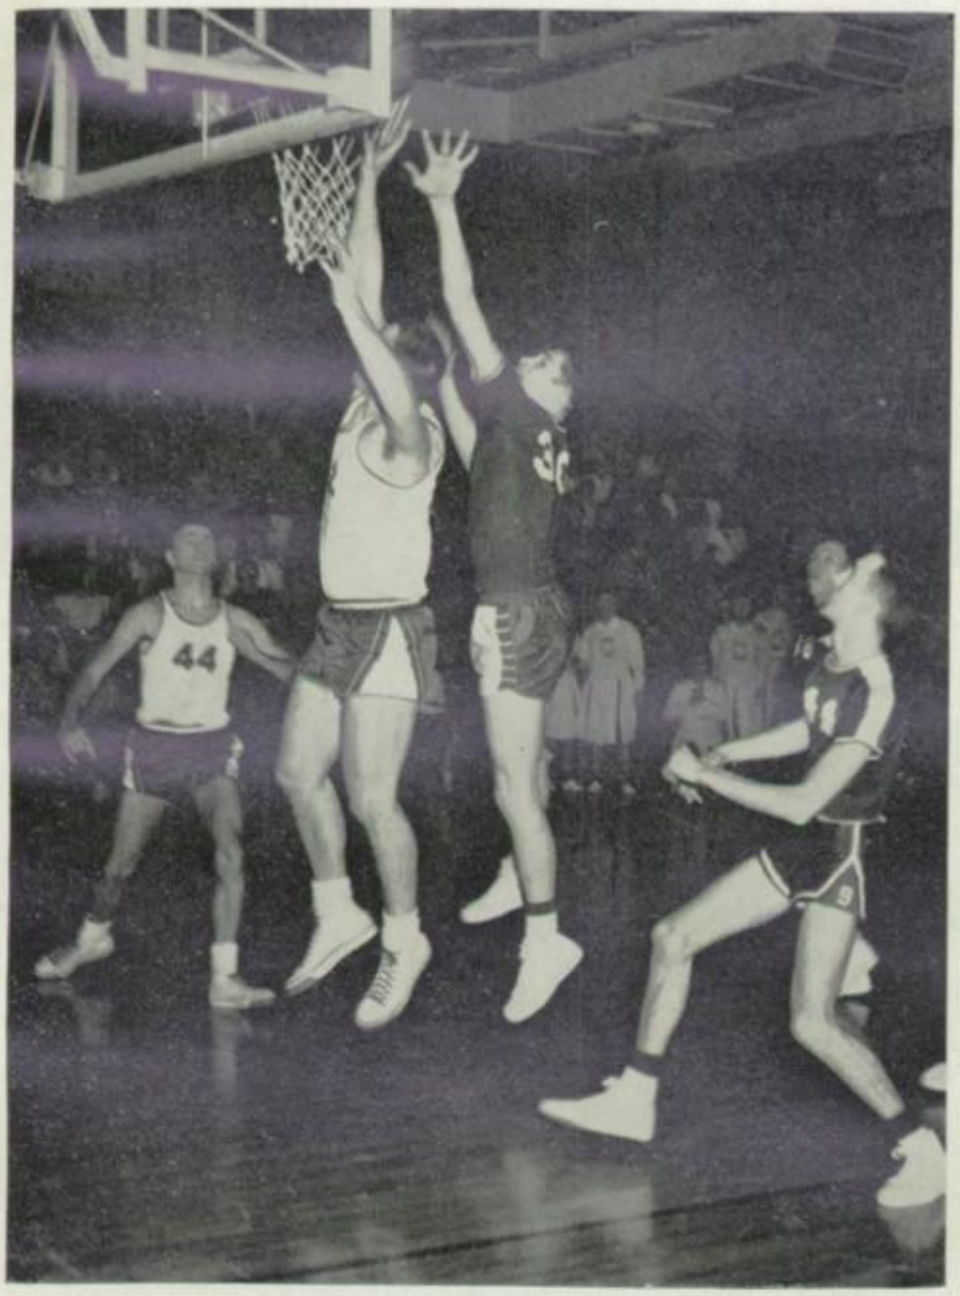
Stopping in view of Coldwater's bleachers, a group of pretty girls and their escorts filed onto the field midst CHS's marching band.

Mayor Chuck Young introduced city Mayor Max A. Olds, who presented the crown and rose bouquet to the 1957 Homecoming Queen, Kay Nash.

Senior members of the court included Pat Holben and Marilyn Sanford, and junior members were Pat Berry and Sue Hayton. Senior escorts of the court included Roger Curtiss and Rolly Scheidler, and juniors were Don Brown and Don Davenport.

Accompanied by Chuck Young, Kay reigned over the remainder of the game, and the homecoming dance, the "Sweethearts' Hop."

Entertainment at Night



Bill Timm rebounds for two points on west bucket in Cardinal gym against Adrian.

CHS at night . . . crowds cheering . . . pep band setting a mood for the old ball game . . . . students attending various club meetings . . . publications staffs working late at night.

Familiar happenings such as these are a part of the after hours schedule of the high school. Not one night of the week goes by during a school year that some extra-curricular or sport activity is not going on.

"Mirror" editor Kay Nash is caught by surprise as she sets headlines for the paper while working one night.

CHS . . . . Bee Hive of Fun.

Peter Sangalli presents scenic slides of Europe to Future Teachers' party for various clubs in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis square dance with the students at Freshman-Sophomore Reception.

Hard Work, and Creativeness

Night time activities at Coldwater High School saw students and teachers alike participating either in work nights, social gatherings or just plain fun nights.

One of the highlights of the year for the Future Nurses Club was the Halloween Parade when the girls copped first prize for their float. The Commission and Cardinal Service Club followed close behind, taking second and third spots, respectively.

Club meetings took up many nights of the year. All organizations met fairly regularly either for a business meeting or to listen to some educational program.

Square dancing was prevalent at most of the special dances, besides the formal ones, and almost everyone attending took a whirl at the curtsying and skipping.

School Leaders Hard

E. BYRON THOMAS
Superintendent

Three men, assisted by the board of education, have the responsibility of seeing that CHS operates smoothly.

Superintendent E. Byron Thomas, with 10 years as administrative leader, was high school principal for four years here after coming from Vicksburg, Michigan. He holds an BA from Albion College and an MA from Northwestern.

Axner Olson, appointed business manager last year, has been in the Coldwater system for 14 years. Prior to his present position he was junior high principal. His degrees include a BA and an MA from Western Michigan.

Since 1948, Kermit Dennis has served as CHS principal, advancing from the junior high principalship. Adrian was his college for an AB, and he received his MA from University of Michigan.

..t Work . . . Add Improvements

The Coldwater Board of Education, consisting of Dr. Harold Weidner, president; Dr. Albert Long, vice-president; Edward Holtz, secretary; James Snyder, treasurer; and the trustees, Marriette Mooi, Dr. James Nash and Charles Kingsley, has added several improvements to the school system of the city during 1957-58.

Their main problem has been getting enough money to cover school expenses. After shifting their budget around several times, the board managed to get enough money to build two new elementary schools to take the place of Longfellow, which has not been used for several years, and Franklin, which was closed this fall.

They also paved the circle drive in front of the new high school, bought a new seventy-two passenger bus and have started developing the southwest corner of the lot next to the Cardinal football field into a baseball diamond with a grass infield.

Also, a committee was chosen to investigate the possibilities of a junior college in Coldwater, and a decision is still pending.

Althea Krisov (top) Salutatorian
Janet Euans — Valedictorian

Coldwater High School's graduates of 1958 had several activities which took up their time for the last year in particular. The concession stand at Waterworks Park operated continuously during the summer to swell the coffers of the class.

Football season brought out all the fans and necessitated another concession stand, the Cardinal Field one. This was one of the class' most profitable night time projects.

Evenings also were spent studying in many cases. Last year's scholastic standings had been dominated by boys. This year nine out of the top ten grads were of the feminine variety. Janet Euans topped the group to reign as valedictorian, and Althea Krisov came in a close second to become salutatorian.

Sue Davis won the DAR award as the outstanding girl citizen of the class, and then added laurels to that when the faculty chose her as the ideal student of the group. Reggie Ivey rated as the ideal boy pupil.

An active group of class officers led the activities of the class. Doug Miller, president; Tedd Houck, vice-president; Pat Holben, secretary; and Hal Kemp, treasurer; handled most of the affairs.

This year's annual trip was in March instead of the usual end of May. Forty-six people who made the excursion were hailed in several spots as the best mannered group of students to be on a trip in many a day.

To round out the year, the group decided to help the school by leaving several books to the library as a memorial from the Class of 1958.

Anti-climax to the commencement exercises was the annual trip which the seniors took earlier this year than in previous years. The same historic and scenic spots appeared before their eyes, and they posed with Congressman August Johansen on the lawn of the Capitol building so that they could have a photo to remind them of that wonderful trip taken in the last year of high school.

As a parting gift to the school, so that future classes will remember them, this year's graduates left behind them a number of books to be placed in the library. It was hoped by the group that these books would ease the burden of finding good reading material for pleasure and for research work on term papers for the English department.

Seniors who journeyed on the annual trip in early March pose on the Capitol grounds with advisers and Michigan Senator, August Johansen.

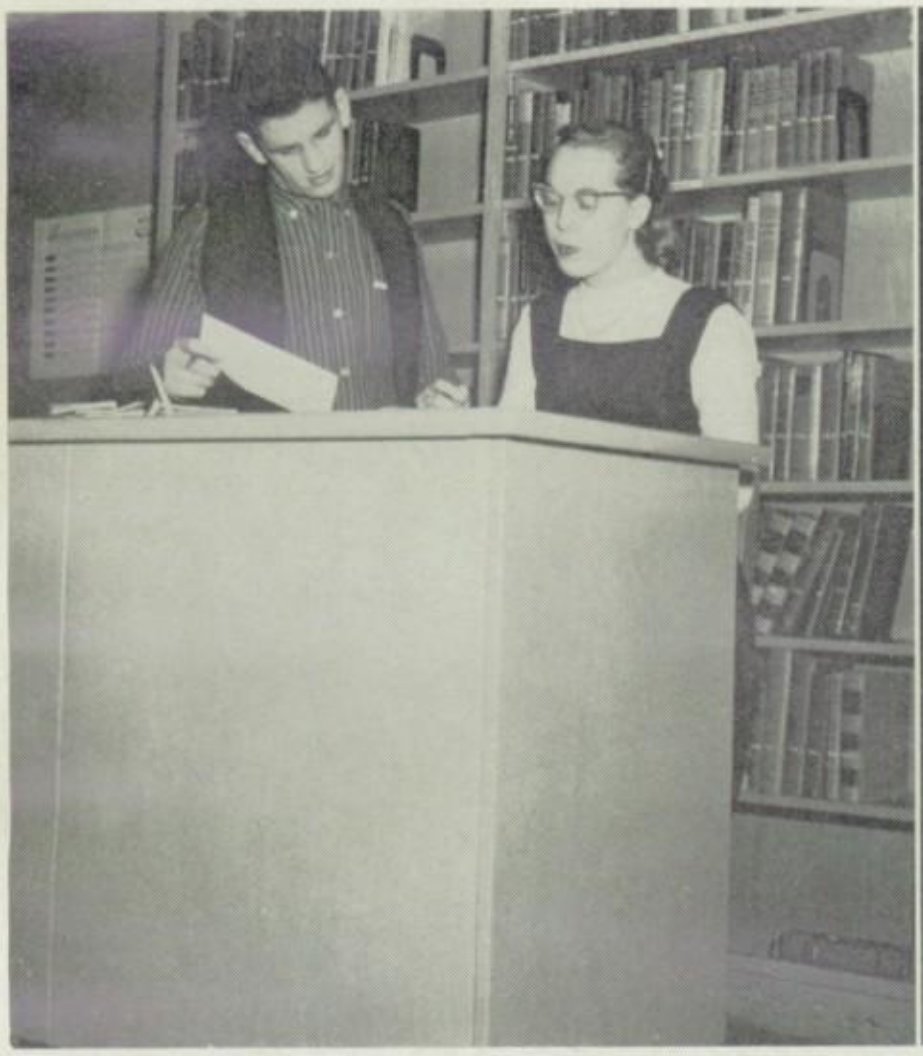
Commission Adds Money To Rec Fund

Student commission, L to R: Mr. Vincent, D. Carlisle, P. Berry, M. Sanford, C. Young, A. Carlisle, C. Curtiss, M. J. Nichols, T. Hawkins.

Commmissioners vote on suggestion presented to group by one of the members.



Mayor Chuck Young and Clerk Ann Carlisle discuss commission finances.

Marilyn Sanford, Larry Chenoweth and Joyce Downey check student lockers during inspection.

This year the commission's activities ranged from fund raising to activity organization. The main accomplishment was acquiring money for the tiling of the recreation floor. Money derived from dances, record hops and the Variety Show went for this fund and also cheerleader uniforms for next year.

In its second year, the parent-teacher-student association continued to discuss school problems and bring the three groups together.

Inspecting lockers for neatness is one task the group performed to maintain a smoothly running school. Books were supposed to be on the top two shelves while the bottom was available for boots and the like.

Dancing dates were assigned to clubs as they were requested. Open nights were divided among remaining organizations.

Another job performed was that of choosing the members of the citizenship committee. Each class commissioner, according to plan, picked out names of good students. Of these, four were chosen as the members for the committee.

Group of students and teachers rate applause as reserve and varsity cheerleaders are chosen.

This year the Tri-Hi-Y, the high school's largest club with over 100 members, undertook a new money making project to help support a Korean orphan.

During home room periods and any other possible time, the girls sold red felt pennants topped with a white "C". They also started a service cart at the Branch County Hospital which furnished incidentals for the patients to buy.

Basketball fans could check their coats with the girls during ball games. The club also held two regular dances and co-sponsored the Valentine Formal.

Officers this year were Sue Davis, president; Diane Davison, vice-president; Pat Holben, secretary; Joan Gochenour, treasurer and Sandra Fauver, chaplain. Sponsors were Miss Donna Dolan and Mrs. Gladys Davis.

Tri-Hi-Y advisors and officers meet in library conference room to discuss sale of Cardinal pins.

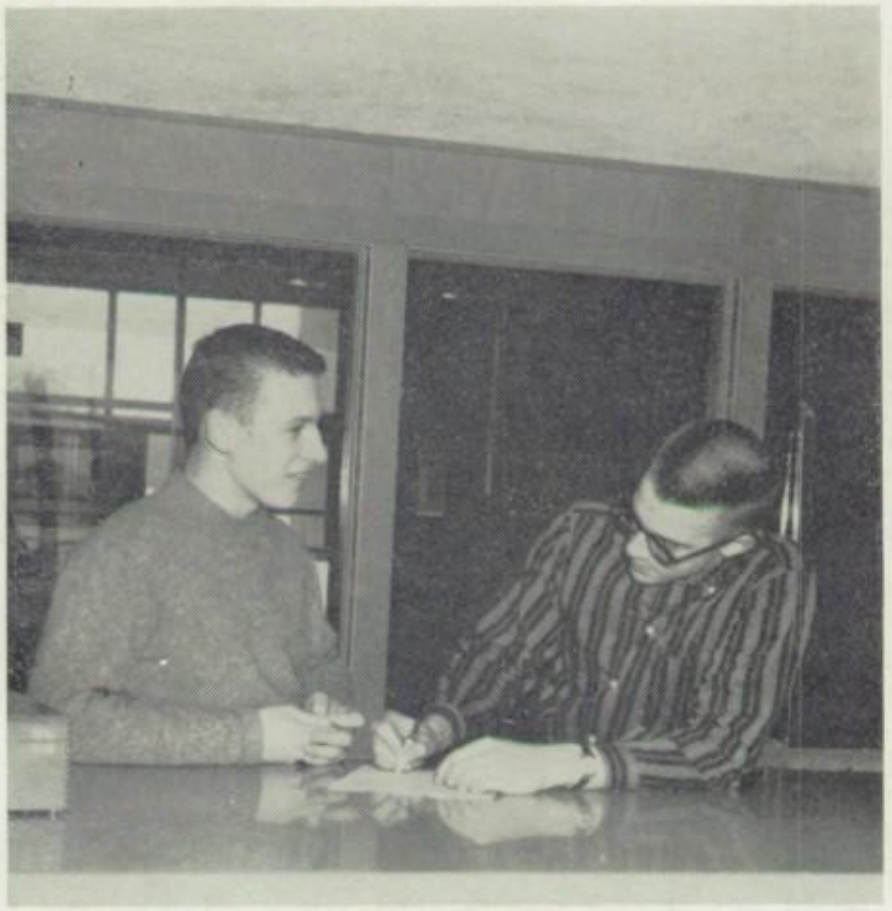
Hi-Y Again Donates Christmas Tree

"To Create, Maintain, and Extend Throughout the Home, School and Community, High Standards of Christian Character," is the motto of the Hi-Y Club.

Along with President Dave Lockwood, the officers are vice-president, Chuck Harvey; secretary-treasurer, Don Shorno; chaplain, Ron Wilcox; and sergeant-at-arms, Art Stanley.

Again this year the club co-sponsored the Valentine Formal. In order to make money for their club pins, the boys sold red and white Cardinal pennants and two dances contributed to their treasury. As a special service to the students and faculty, the club decorated a huge Christmas tree in the main lobby of the high school during the Yuletide season.

The Hi-Y club with 32 members who pledged to keep clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship and clean living is affiliated with the Y.M.C.A. in Battle Creek.



Chuck Harvey and Dave Lockwood look up homeroom numbers of members sought for a project.

Ten of Cardinal Staff Get Honor Awards

Cardinal staff, L to R: A. Lees, A. Krisov, D. Mooi, K. Nash, M. Wirt, D. Obed, D. Blanchard, B. Waldron, J. Goodholm, K. Faller, V. Woods, K. Tice.

Editor and assistant editor of yearbook, Diana Obed and Keith Tice, discuss handling of senior pictures.

The Cardinal staff, headed by Diana Obed, editor, and Keith Tice, assistant, set out this year to bring a new type theme to the annual.

Going along with the space ideas which popped up with the Russian Sputnik, the staff decided to design a cover which would portray the heavens by means of a comet, which symbolizes how rapidly the high school days of students come to an end, and how quickly night-time activities race by.

The theme, night and day, originated because it was felt that all things emanating from the school are actually a part of the curricular program, and that the majority of pupils participate in some activity after dark. Thus, CHS during the day is no more active than it is in the evening.

New and original poses and action shots became the goal of the staff in the desire to produce the best annual which the high school has ever produced. Adviser William Booth said, "We hope that all of the students like the book. We try to please everyone."

Quill and Scroll honors were presented this year to 10 seniors for excellent work on "The Cardinal," "The Mirror," and "Cardinal Chatter" by William Booth, publications advisor.

The 10 include Diana Obed, "Cardinal" editor; Kay Nash, Sue Davis, and Karen Faller, "Mirror" editors; Margie Wirt and Yvonne Woods, "Cardinal Chatter" editors, and Barbara Waldron, Audrey Lees, Althea Krisov, and Deanna Blanchard, members of the "Mirror" and "Cardinal" staffs.

Quill and Scroll is an honorary national organization to which members must be nominated by their publications advisor or their principal.

Editors Margie Wirt and Vonnie Woods discuss a "Chatter" page.

For the second year in succession editors and staff members of "The Mirror" typed their own copy and made their own lay-outs by pasting down the copy. The Saturday night page, "Cardinal Chatter," grew in amount of coverage as new and more pictures were added to add to the appearance of the page.

The newspaper, headed by Kay Nash, first semester editor, and Karen Faller and Sue Davis, second semester co-editors, blossomed out with a variety of new ideas and pictures, which had been lacking, to some degree, in the past.

Margie Wirt and Vonnie Woods, "Chatter" editors, developed a stronger staff and held to certain fundamental rules which enabled them to make every deadline on time this year.

Much credit for the success of the high school publications, according to William Booth, advisor, must be given to 13 students who attended the eighth hour workshop class in room 120. They were a cooperative group who were interested in the field of journalism, and devoted an otherwise free period to doing tasks in that area.

Service Club Works For School

The workers of CHS gnawed their way through the more unwanted tasks which arose at CHS during the past year, helping to add to the reputation of the Cardinal Service Club.

During the year their duties consisted of collecting group dues at games, supervising the parking lot, operating movie projectors for various classes and assemblies, playing "handy-man" for class plays and doing other numerous odd jobs around the school.

Election of new members was held after a one semester probation during the spring, and the group attended a hockey game in Detroit in the early part of the second semester. Along with Mr. Dennis, advisor, the club members held their annual picnic at the end of the year.

Officers terminating for the school year were Loren Yearling, president; Guy Houtz, vice-president, and Jerry Omo, secretary and treasurer.

Forty-four junior and seniors interested in working half days belonged to the distributive education program this year. These students worked in three different fields: retail, office and trade-industrial.

Their employers were all local businessmen who cooperated with John Bachman, advisor, in rating and grading the students every marking period. At this time, the employers were sent rating sheets, and requested to fill them in, giving such information as punctuality, personal neatness, ability, cooperation, dependability, attitude, ability to get along with others and job performance.

The student-employees worked at their jobs half of the school day and attended classes the remainder of the day, taking subjects which related to their job.

A "C" or higher average had to be maintained to be eligible for an achievement certificate, which was presented to each senior who successfully completed the program.

This year the Varsity Club, under the leadership of Forest Snow, president; Bob Weaver, vice-president; Doug Miller, secretary; Larry Buys, treasurer; and Joe Van Dosen, sergeant-at-arms; took on many money making projects to increase their treasury. The members operated the concession stand in the rear lobby of the high school during basketball season, sold schedule pencils and sold season tickets for football.

Constructing a halloween float, furnishing soft drinks for officials and visiting teams after games, purchasing a movie projector to view football plays and displaying a huge track record board in the rear lobby of the high school were a few of the services the club performed.

As in many past years, Floyd Eby, head basketball coach, was the advisor of the club.

FFA Emphasizes Good Farming Methods

Members of F.F.A. had a busy schedule this year. To start the year, a parent and son banquet was held in the fall, with Kermit Dennis elected an honoray future farmer. Five members of the group attended the National F.F.A. convention in Kansas City, during October, and the entire group visited the exhibits on display at Michigan State University during January, for Farmer's Week, in East Lansing.

Two money-making projects were put in use during the year, as the boys sold rat poison and garden seed to local farmers.

Future Nurses Work In Hospital

After working five hours at either the hospital helping feed the children, or at Maple Lawn visiting with the patients, Future Nurses were eligible to receive FNA pins. Besides these projects the prospective nurses helped give treatment to physically handicapped children at Hillsdale College. They entered a float in the Halloween parade which took first place and held a dance in order to increase their revenue.

Field trips to the State Home and Training School and various hospitals were a chief source of information. Speakers were present at all the meetings from different fields of nursing.

The 1957-58 officers were Carolyn Kemp, president; Kay Nash, vice-president; Joan Gooch, secretary; Vonnie Woods, treasurer and Barbara Bonfiglio, librarian. Miss Alice McGowan was the nurse consultant, while Miss Rose Steffaniak was the club adviser.

Would-Be Teachers Study Vocation

In an effort to create a better understanding of the vocation of teaching and its varied associated occupations, several guest speakers appeared before the Future Teachers Club.

This year, the project of sponsoring a scholarship for a senior member was initiated. Various fund-raising ideas were developed in order to provide for this citation, such as selling basketball programs, school stationery and CHS pins.

Several of the members were given the opportunity to guide younger students while the remainder of the class was taking tests. This not only assisted the teachers but also, in many cases, helped the club members to determine their minds about their future professions.

Miss Ilda Philips acted as sponsor, and the officers were: president, Karen Faller; vice-president and program chairman, Althea Krisov; secretary, Deanna Blanchard; treasurer, Marilyn Sanford.

Debaters Cop Eight

Pat Palmer and Steve Gordon listen to speech of the opposing debater.

Experiencing a successful season this year, the Coldwater debate team captured eight of sixteen contests while competing in the Twin-Valley and State Leagues.

This year's team was anchored by two three-year debaters, Stephen Gordon of the negative and Janet Goodholm of the affirmative. Pat Palmer and Neil Harris shared the negative duties with Steve, while Karen Faller, a senior and first-year member, completed the affirmative side.

The question discussed in Michigan high school debate circles this year was "Resolved: That Direct United States Economic Aid to Foreign Countries should be Limited to Technical Assistance and Disaster Relief."

Juniors Re-Enact Old Melodrama

Melodrama, comedy and romance were all a part of the junior class thespians' production of Mollie O'Shaughnessy by Dorothy Stewart.

March 28 was the date of this wild west thriller that took place in the Roosevelt Auditorium.

The play, under the direction of Miss Phyllis Coscarelly, centered around the antics of a straight shooting, self-sufficient young woman, one Mollie O'Shaughnessy, her father the sheriff and brother Jed.

Many amusing incidents occur as Mollie falls in love, and Jed turns outlaw.

The play cast included Chuck Harvey, Neil Harris, Wayne Farst, Gerry Curtiss, Chuck Hutchins, Jerry Ford, Glenn Barlow, Jackie Petty, Ann Carlisle, Cherie Boyd, Barbara Pearce, Judy Short, Judy Bussing.

Seniors Present Hilarious Farce

Vonnie Woods watches Judy Parrish embrace Bob Huntley in "Down to Earth."

Comedy, romance, and a share of suspense reigned over the senior class presentation of "Down to Earth" on November 22-23.

The curtain opened on the descent of Agnes (Pat Palmer), and Wilfred (Steve Gordon), both full-fledged angels who considered Pilone (Larry Skidmore), an apprentice angel, a great hindrance to their mission on earth. Agnes tried, but was unsuccessful in getting Augusta Appelgate (Diana Obed), a miserly spinster, tuned in on her cosmic counter so she could take her back to heaven. Herman Howell, a retired seaman (Doug Miller), received the same treatment from Wilfred.

After entering Miss Applegate's home, the angels found Orpha Teel (Janet Goodholm) and her daughter, Ruthie (Judy Parish) moving in against their aunt's protest. Augusta had money and position, an ideal atmosphere to track down a millionaire for Ruthie. At the arrival of more relatives, Millie and Baxter Bromsley (Mary Jane Freeman and Dick Lewis) and their daughter, June (Yvonne Woods), with her fiance, Richard White (Bob Huntley), Augusta's money was further pursued.

Soon after Richard and Ruthie were left alone, Pilone began his troublemaking. He kissed Ruthie on the cheek, and believing it to be Richard, she embraced him. Pilone, meanwhile, fell for Diana, Augusta's maid (Patty Bennett) and began doing little services for her. At first, Diana was upset by these hallucinations, but soon accepted Pilone as he was.

Devoted Orpha arranged for Ruthy to meet millionaire Robert Hanley (Dave Petty). Ruthie was disappointed, for Hanley turned out to be a hypochondriac.

In the end, Pilone had helped bring together all the couples in the play, and the angels completed their mission.

Student director, assisted by Carol Long, was Judy Smith. Phyllis Coscarelly acted as faculty advisor.

After taking a superior rating at the annual Southwestern Michigan Marching Festival for two consecutive years, the Coldwater High School Varsity Band was slated to play host to the affair this fall at Cardinal Field.

When the nation-wide Asian Flu epidemic struck Coldwater, the affair was postponed, and finally cancelled due to bad weather.

In February, 30 band members from both junior and senior high traveled to Kalamazoo to participate in the annual Southwestern Michigan Solo and Ensemble Festival, held on the campuses of Western Michigan University and Kalamazoo College, and also at the Methodist Church of Kalamazoo.

Doug Miller and Royden Swaffield each received two awards. The other six musicians to receive a first rating were Glenn Barlow, Jim Peiffer, Paul Herman, Tom English, Marian Dove, and Jean Macklin.

February 29 found the band at the District Band Contest at Portage, where it received a superior rating in sight reading, and a final rating of excellent, or second, based upon sight reading and concert performance.

Under the direction of Miss Alice Erb, the Cardinal Choir, consisting of forty-five voices, offered a Christmas Concert as their first public appearance this year. Among the choral arrangements included were "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming" and "Glory to God in the Highest."

Negro spirituals, religious pieces, and novelty numbers constituted a choral assembly the group gave before the student body and faculty. Another program for the high school consisted of such compositions as "Where in the World But in America," "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" and "It's a Good Day."

The vocal department's Spring Festival featured the Cardinal Choir, the Girls' Chorus and the Hi-Fi's.

In late March eight Coldwater High School Band students participated in the State Solo and Ensemble Contest at Michigan State University.

The Pep Band, composed of members from the high school band, played at home basketball games and various pep assemblies throughout the year.

5 Groups Have Very Active Year

Science teacher Robert Bell and science aspirant William Timm innaugurated a new club this year when they organized the Coldwater High School Science Club.

The hope was that the club would grow and become an active part of the evening activity of the school. Several boys joined the group this year and spent many hours discussing and building things related to science. Many others expressed interest and probably will increase the rolls next year.

Spanish Club members climaxed the year with a journey to a language day at Western Michigan University. Under the direction of Ray Cardenas the group sold programs at the football games in the fall.

Oscar Renshaw headed the International Relations Club again this year, and the members again participated in the United Nations mock assembly at Hillsdale College.

Horizon Club members met mostly at the homes of members and held their meetings there. Mrs. Anne Trebilcock was the advisor.

Twenty-nine students made up the National Honor Society of Coldwater High this year. The people selected for this honor were the scholastic leaders in the senior and junior classes.

BRANCH COUNTY ABSTRACT OFFICE

Of Last Season

Ending the season with five wins and three losses, Coach Jack Finn's 1957 varsity football squad, which included 12 seniors, tied with the 1956 record.

To start the season off right, Coldwater tromped Hillsdale with a score of 13-0. A tough Albion team overpowered the Cards at the next game, with a 21-6 win, while Homecoming saw Lakeview lose to Coldwater's charging team by a score of 13-7. The Maples beat Coldwater at Adrian 13-7, and the following game witnessed the East Lansing Trojans outscore the Cardinals 41-12.

The last three games best showed the spirit of Coldwater's team, as they trounced Three Rivers, 40-19, beat Sturgis 21-13, thus returning the silver football trophy, and outran the hard fighting Marshall Redskins with the score of 12-6.

All state football awards went to Bill Timm and Doug Miller to climax the successfull season. Forrest Snow, along with Timm and Miller, were awarded births on the first team of the Valley Conference squads, while Ted Houck and Larry Skidmore received honorable mention.

Although the Coldwater reserve football team was able to win only one game during the season, the squad developed in potential.

After an opening loss to Sturgis, Coach Pat Lowe's group reached their peak when they beat Marshall. Hard-fighting Albion then defeated the junior Cards, and Lakeview topped them while the squad was weakened by a flu epidemic.

The season finale found the reserves leading Albion by six at the end of the third quarter, but a two touchdown fourth period sparked the Wildcats to victory.

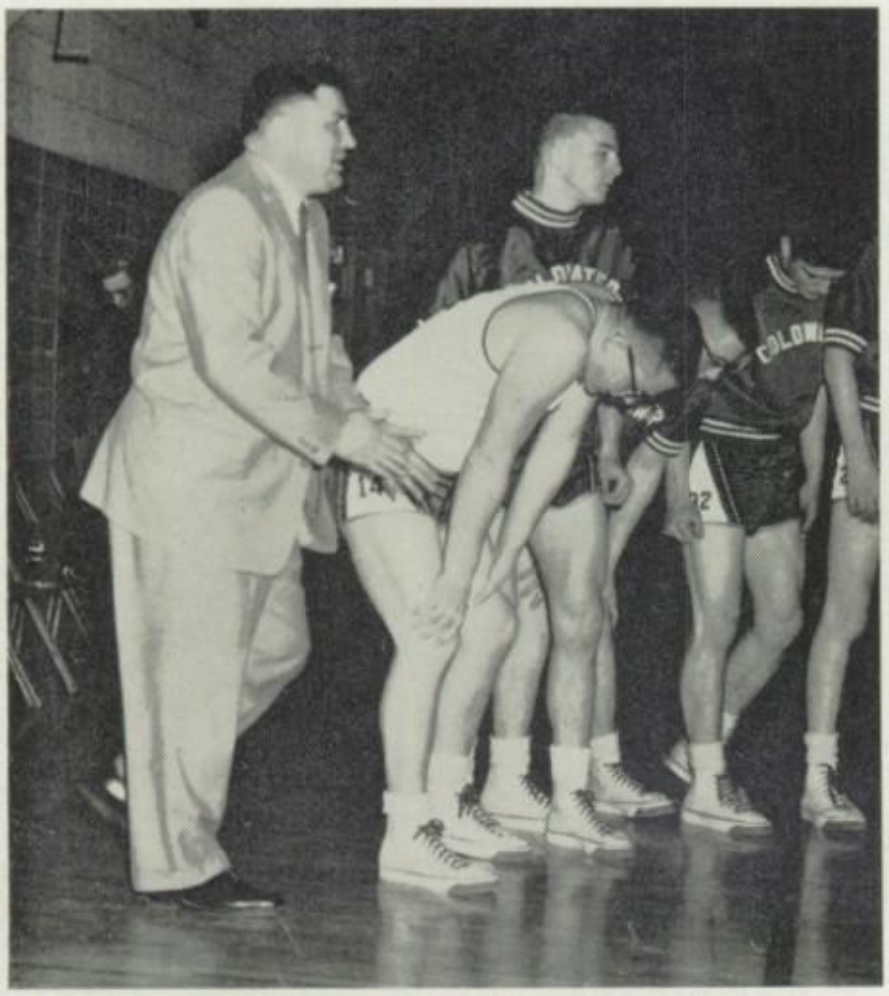
Hard Luck Hits



Coach Floyd Eby steps forward to meet team during a time-out in the Marshall game in CHS' gym.

Although Coach Floyd Eby's varsity cagers maanged to win only five games of 17 during the 1958 season, several contests were decided by small margins, and with a little more luck the Cardinals would have had a much improved record.

Victories came at the expense of Sturgis, whom the Cards defeated twice, Lakeview, Albion and Adrian. Marshall, East Lansing and Three Rivers copped double wins over Coldwater in conference play.

Two contests played outside the Twin Valley with Hillsdale were losing ones for the Ebymen, and the regular season record stood at 5-11.

3 Cage Squads Display Good Punch

A strong varsity is dependent upon the material it derives from its subordinate teams. This year the reserve squad was comparatively superior to last year's with a record of seven wins and nine losses.

The six sophomores and two freshmen achieved a Twin Valley Conference League record of seven wins and seven losses to tie for third position.

Those receiving awards were Gordon Archer, Bruce Buys, Craig Curtiss, Val Hawkins, Richard Holben, Ron Paradine, Tom Smith and Richard Van Dyke.

Peter Sangalli's first season of coaching sophomore basketball saw the team win six of eight games this year, more than the team has won in recent years.

During the season three sophomores, Bill Brown, Ron Paradine, and Mike Vaughan, moved up to the reserve team.

The two games lost were to the Homer reserves, who were unbeaten this year in "Little C" reserve competition.

Basketball fortunes were excellent for Coach William Fairman and the freshman squad this year as the team went through a 10-game schedule undefeated.

The closest contest of the season was the final game of the schedule with Sturgis, which the junior Cardinals won by a score of 34-25. The other games were won by lopsided margins by the CHS boys.

Homer, Hillsdale, Sturgis and Union City fell twice to the tight defensive unit of the frosh. Other victories were over Lakeland and Bronson.

Good balance and scoring punch from the outside helped the freshmen cagers achieve their outstanding record. A tight zone was used mostly on defense, with a full court press employed when necessary to put the pressure on the opposition.

Front row: K. Balcom, J. Dean, R. Wilcox, B. Buys, J. Brown.

Baseball aspirants swarmed to the gym in early March to try out for the varsity nine, under the leadership of Frank Lowe, head coach, and Gerald Weaver, assistant.

Only one senior was on the squad this season, and nine underclassmen returned from the squad which tied for the Twin Valley championship with Marshall in 1957.

Returning lettermen included Bruce Buys, Jerry Brown, Jon Brayton, Keith Balcom, Ron Wilcox, Chuck Harvey, Jerry Dean and Dick Knight. Dean was the only senior, and Buys was a sophomore.

The year began with a 14-game schedule, only seven of which were conference games. Seven or eight other boys were held as likely prospects to make the team, but at the time of this writing, no decision had been made.

Coach Weaver handled a reserve squad as in past years, besides assisting with the varsity.

4 Golfers Vie For Varsity

Coach Wayne Kellogg's club swingers returned to the links this spring with three lettermen from last year's squad which finished fourth in Twin Valley competition.

Hopes were high for a stronger finish this season with golfers Dave Petty and Tom Adams, seniors, and sophomores Sherman Stanley leading the way. Adams and Petty both won letters in 1957.

Country club links were aagin used for both practice and meet competition. The members of the squad and the coach could be seen playing practice rounds until late in the evening after sessions started on Monday, April 4.

Seniors Chuck Young and Bob Weaver, and juniors Dave Ray and Brad White vied with Stanley for the two positions along side Petty and Adams to see who would make up the varsity foursome.

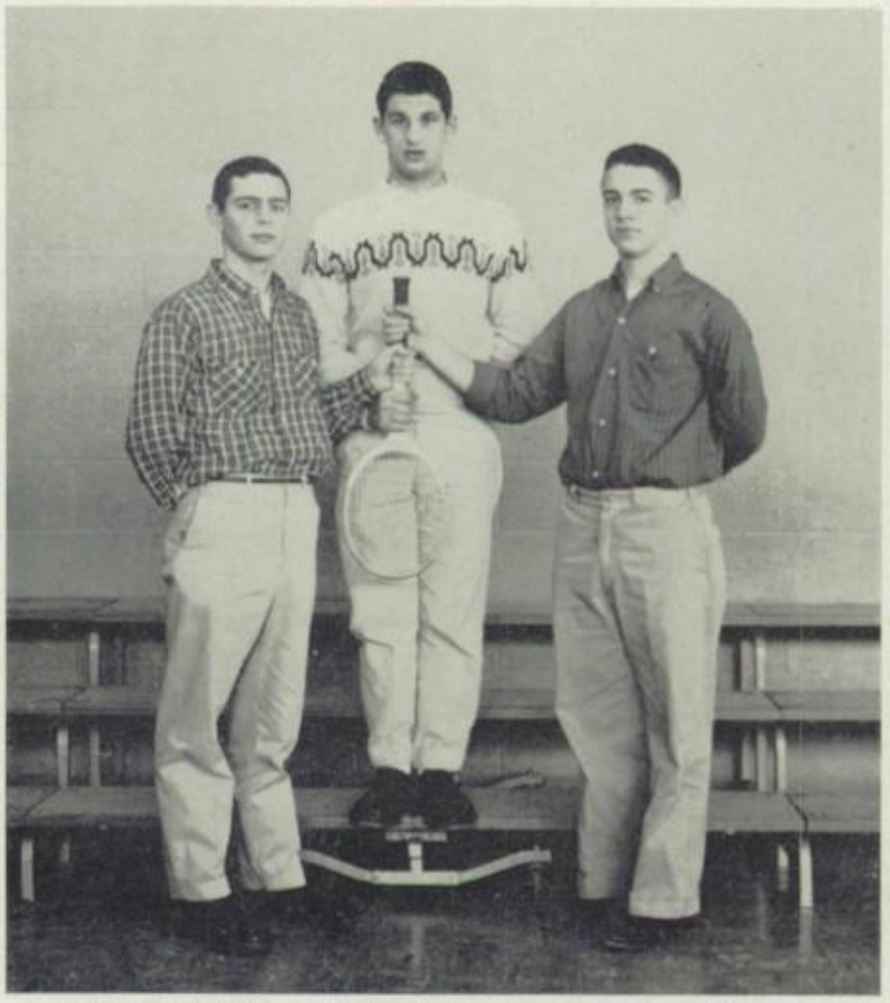
CHS' racquet squad, under the direction of Coach Peter Sangalli, began the year with only four lettermen returning from last year's team, which won eight and lost only two.

Leading the ten-man roster this season were Chuck Young, Bob Weaver, Rolly Scheidler and Gordon Hinckley. The first three were seniors, and Hinckley was a sophomore.

A bad day on the part of the squad members pushed the team into fifth place in the Twin Valley meet last year. This meet was held at East Lansing this spring, and the state regionals were in Kalamazoo.

Regularly scheduled meets were held with Albion, Three Rivers, Lakeview and Sturgis on a home and home basis. One each was held with Marshall and Hillsdale.



Rolly Scheidler, Chuck Young and Gordon Hinckley hold racquet as a sign of being letter winners from last season.

Grapplers Win But 3 of 9 Contests

Front row: J. Dooley, J. Ford, M. Rehm, D. Ambrose, J. Waltz.

Coach Wayne Kellogg's grapplers underwent a rebuilding season this year and were rather unsuccessful in winnnig their matches, copping only three of nine meets.

One man, Harry Miller, won his first round bout during the state event, but he then lost two in succession to drop out of contention. Other participants were eliminated in the first round.

Injuries plagued some of the squad early in the year, and two or three members did not live up to expectations from the preceding year, thus contributing to the poor showing.

Several underclassmen on the team give Coach Kellogg an opportunity to see better things in store for the matmen next season.

Wins this year were over Portage twice and Howe Military Academy once.

Coldwater High School's varsity cindermen, last year's Twin Valley champions, looked forward to a successful season this year under the tutelage of head coach William Fairman and assistant coach Jack Finn.

Eleven returning lettermen, bolstered by several reserve award winners, two transfer students and a few new prospects, carried hopes for a winning season.

Larry Buys, Forrest Snow and Tony Hufnagle were back at the pole vault pit again, Jim Curtis threw the shot, Dave Lockwood returned for the 440, and Dean Parks was available for the sprints.

Bill Timm and Bill Salisbury, transfer students who won letters at their respective schools last season, were on hand for the shot, and Craig Curtiss came from a successful cross country season to run in the distances. Roger Curtiss, half-miler from last year, was also back for this event.

Reserves of 1957, who were counted on for many points were Hal Kemp, hurdles; Doug Miller, high jump; and Jim Mollenkopf, broad jump. New prospects included Fritz Strassburger, sprints; Bud Coe, distances; and Fred Worthington and Art Stanley, hurdles.

A group of GAA girls participate in volleyball game during phys ed class.

Several new sports along with a new advisor, Mrs. Marge Letot, were introduced into the Girls' Athletic Association this past year.

Under the leadership of Joyce Downey, president; Mary McConnell, vice-president; Sally Olson, secretary; Sonet Eby, treasurer; 94 girls, an increase over last year, participated in the many sports offered.

Mrs. Letot taught the girls how to play speedball, how to use the bow and arrow and also took a group to Battle Creek on several occasions to use the swimming facilities there.

Regular tournament games were held in basketball and volleyball, and the winning basketball team met the faculty women in a game after GAA season was terminated. The faculty women won the contest. An earlier game, pitting a picked group of GAA girls against the faculty, was won by the high school girls.

Berry, Woods Captain Cheerleaders

Under the leadership of Mrs. Marge Letot, new cheerleading advisor, both varsity and reserve cheerleaders worked to maintain good sportsmanship and co-ordination. Co-captains were chosen for the varsity squad, who were Jackie Berry and Yvonne Woods, both seniors. Judy McBride led the reserves.

The varsity squad, in order to create student enthusiasm, made huge signs before each game and gave a number of pep assemblys throughout the year.

Initiating new cheers was a goal for both teams and they invented both the cheers and motions.

In order to raise money for uniforms, materials, and other necessities the cheerleaders sponsored a dance and sold basketball pins.

The varsity squad for the year included Jackie Berry, Linda Iffland, Mary Jane Nichols, Gayle Quick, Ellen Rittenhouse and Yvonne Woods. Reserve cheerleaders were Janice Berry, Karen Dodd, Pat Elliget, Judy McBride, Bonnie Paddock and Bonnie Sparks.
